About the Show...

The design theme of the Holiday Show at Krohn Conservatory is based on four traditional children's stories: The Lion, The Witch and The Wardrobe, Hansel and Gretel, The Polar Express and A Christmas Carol. Also featured is the enormous holiday tree decorated with all-natural, handmade ornaments in our lobby.

Internet Access...

Now visitors who have wireless-enabled laptops can access the web, check email and stay "connected" while enjoying one of Cincinnati's most beautiful attractions, Krohn Conservatory. Good News Internet Service, in partnership with the Cincinnati Park Board, has launched a new Wireless Internet initiative. For more information stop by our Visitor Center.

Friends of Krohn...

Membership in the Friends of Krohn has many great benefits. Not only can you help support our unique facility, but as a member, you can also save 10% in our gift shop and receive free admission to special events at Krohn. For more information about the Friends of Krohn, stop by the Visitor Center.

About Poinsettias...

Although red poinsettias are a traditional holiday favorite, breeders in the floral industry are working to create new, unique poinsettias. Early poinsettias in the 1930's through the 1950's looked similar to their wild relatives, with long, floppy bracts or "flower petals". Today's poinsettias are available in colors such as peach and yellow. Even the traditional reds are available in different shades and flower forms. Look for these new varieties in our holiday display.

Redberry Punch: A recent introduction, this bright red variety has oak-leaf shaped bracts and is featured on our large poinsettia tree.

Plum Pudding: Not only does the 'Plum Pudding' poinsettia have a unique color but the name is reminiscent of the traditional holiday food, plum pudding. Look for these poinsettias in the garden areas of "A Christmas Carol".
